JOSEPH ROVENSKY, BANKER, 66, DEAD

Chairman of Patino Mines Had Been Head of Foreign Unit of Chase National Here

Joseph Charles Rovensky, international banker and industrialist, died yesterday in Roosevelt Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Rovensky, who was 66 years old, had an office at 56 East Forty-second Street and lived at Witherbee Court, Pelham Manor, N. Y.

Mr. Rovensky was chairman of the board of directors of the Patino Mines and Enterprises Consolidated, Inc., tin-mining concern that operated in Bolivia until its property this year was nationalized by the Bolivian Government. He was also a director of the Industrial Bank of Commerce. In 1928-45 he was vice president in charge of foreign business of the Chase National Bank of New York and had been until recently one of its directors.

Noted as Foreign Adviser

As head of the Chase foreign department, Mr. Rovensky was noted for his advice on credits in connection with foreign deals. One of his outstanding achievements was to act in the decade before World War II as the chief negotiator of agreements between American creditor banks and German debtor banks. He represented 118 American banks, including Chase, in the arrangement for liquidation of $465,000,000 in short-term commercial credits. He was an intimate friend of the Rockefeller family.

When Nelson A. Rockefeller became Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, Mr. Rovensky joined him and served for three years, ending in 1943, as assistant coordinator. He took leave from Chase to hold the position. He had been chairman of Patino since 1946.

A son of the late John Rovensky, a Czech glassmaker, Mr. Rovensky was born in Pittsburgh. His mother was the late Mrs. Agnes Benes Rovensky. He was graduated as a pharmacist from the University of Pittsburgh in 1909 and held an honorary LL. D. from Washington and Jefferson College, of which he was a life trustee.

He joined later the First National Bank of Pittsburgh and became a national bank examiner in Chicago and assistant cashier of the Corn Exchange Bank and Trust Company there. Earlier in the Nineteen Twenties he joined Chase here.

Director of Many Concerns

Mr. Rovensky served as a director of the National Foreign Trade Council, New York Hanseatic Corporation, North American Phillips Company, Inc., Foundation Company, Drake American Corporation, American and Foreign Power Company, Inc., Massey Concrete Products Company and the Lone Star Cement Corporation. He was board chairman of the Luria Steel and Trading Company and board vice chairman of the Morris Plan Corporation of America.

Lorenz Service Held at 5th Ave. Presbyterian

Dewey, Pfeiffer and Corsi
Among 300 Attending;
Dr. Wolfe Gives Eulogy

A funeral service for Keith Lorenz, chairman of the New York State Labor Relations Board, was held at 11 a. m. yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, Fifth Ave. and 55th St.

Mr. Lorenz, who was also chairman of New York State Citizens for Eisenhower, died Friday night at St. Luke's Hospital of a heart ailment. He was sixty-two and lived at 25 E. 83d St.

The Rev. Ralph B. Nesbitt, associate minister of the church, officiated. The service was attended by 300 persons, including Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and many of Mr. Lorenz' former friends and colleagues in political and social life.

The Rev. Paul Austin Wolfe, minister of the Brick Presbyterian Church, Park Ave. and 91st St., and moderator of the Presbytery of New York, delivered a eulogy praising Mr. Lorenz as churchman and citizen. He recalled that Mr. Lorenz had been a member of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church and was a member of its board of elders.

Citizen and Soldier

"He was a citizen," said Dr. Wolfe. "He was a soldier in the first world war and then took his place in a political party. How are you going to preserve the spirit of liberty if men do not participate in those party instruments which maintain our constitutional liberties? He served his party in a quiet and modest way and did it at a sacrifice of his own best material interests."

Dr. Wolfe referred to Mr. Lorenz' work as chairman of the New York State Citizens for Eisenhower, "for which he labored without rest and saw his labors crowned with success."

Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, minister of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, in a message read by Dr. Nesbitt, said that in the death of Keith Lorenz "our church has lost one of its most devoted officers."

Occupying front pews were members of Mr. Lorenz' immediate family, including his wife, Mrs. Helen Laimbeer Lorenz; two sons, John Laimbeer and Keith Lorenz jr., and two brothers, Joseph and Lincoln Lorenz.

19 Honorary Pallbearers

Seated to the left of the family in front pews were the nineteen honorary pallbearers. These included Gov. Dewey, William L. Pfeiffer, Republican state chairman; State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, Commissioners Meyer Goldberg and Frank D. Maurin, fellow members with Mr. Lorenz on the State Labor Relations Board; Henry J. Clay, executive secretary of the S. L. R. B.; Leonard Ginsburg, Watson Washburn, Col. Frederick van Pelt Bryan, John F. X. Finn, member of the State Law Revision Commission.

Also Charles H. Russell, Arthur Goldsmith, Ferdinand Eberstadt, Archibald Dawson, Judges William Bondy, Henry Goddard and Edward Conger of the United States District Court, Justice Francis E. Rivers of the City Court, and Lawrence McKinney. There were representatives also of the church's board of elders, his Harvard class of 1912, New York State Citizens for Eisenhower and veterans of the 304th Field Artillery Regiment.

Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery in the Bronx.

L. CROMWELL DEAD; A CIVIC LEADER, 86

Ex-Chairman of Iselin Textile Factors Firm Headed Group to Investigate Racketeers

Lincoln Cromwell of 711 Park Avenue, who retired at the first of the year as chairman of the board of William Iselin & Co., Inc., textile factors, 357 Fourth Avenue, died yesterday, after a brief illness, in St. Luke's Hospital, of which he was president from 1938 to 1949. He was 86 years old.

A native New Yorker, Mr. Cromwell attended the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute for three years before entering Columbia, where he received three degrees, A. B., 1886; A. M., 1887, and LL. B., 1889. He was admitted to the bar in 1889 but never practiced law. Instead he began at once what proved to be an association of more than sixty years with William Iselin & Co. He was made board chairman in 1931.

There have been many instances when Mr. Cromwell accepted the call of his fellow citizens to a post that required a man of unquestioned honesty and ability. In 1926-27 he was chairman of the Mayor's Commission on the Revision of Teachers Salaries, and the recommendations of the commission's report were carried out, improving the salaries and conditions of work of the teachers.

On War Industries Board

In the first World War he performed valuable services for the Federal Government as chairman of the knit goods division of the War Industries Board, being responsible for the buying of knit goods and their mill production.

From 1934 to 1936 Mr. Cromwell was a member of the Governor's Commission on Defaulted Guarantee Mortgages. Four years earlier, in the depression period, he had served on the Governor's emergency scrip committee.

In November, 1930, he was named chairman of District Attorney Crain's Committee of Public Safety to investigate racketeering, but ill health compelled him to resign the post a few days later. He retained his membership on the committee, however.

In April, 1934, he was foreman of the grand jury that investigated rioting in a recent taxicab strike. Two years later he served on the Mayor's committee to investigate trouble in the building trades.

Official of Citizen's Union

Mr. Cromwell had been a trustee of the Bank of New York and Fifth Avenue Bank, and of the Bowery Savings Bank, a member of the Municipal Art Commission, vice president of the Citizen's Union and a director of the Legal Aid Society and the Grenfell Association of America. Successively he served as vestryman, treasurer and senior warden of Grace Protestant Episcopal Church, 1917-35. In 1936 he received the Columbia University Service Medal.

His clubs included the Century, Racquet and Tennis, City and Merchants of New York and the Authors of London. He was president of the New York Phi Beta Kappa Alumni in 1910 and of the Phi Beta Kappa Association, 1946-1947.

Surviving are his widow, who was Mabel Wheeler Smith at their marriage in 1895; a son, Jarvis P. Cromwell, who succeeded his father as chairman of the board of William Iselin & Co., Inc.; two daughters, Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler and Miss Margot Cromwell; a brother, James W. Cromwell of Stamford, Conn.; a sister, Miss Anna C. Cromwell of Summit, N. J., and four grandchildren.

SCLEROSIS REPORT ISSUED

Society Tells of Research Aid and Clinical Work

Support of seventeen research projects and the establishment of seven clinics are noted in an annual report issued yesterday by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, 270 Park Avenue.

The organization was established in October, 1946, for amelioration of the chronic disease characterized by "a patchy destruction of the sheath covering nerve fibers." Promotion of research has been stressed by the membership of 19,000 in twelve chapters.

A total of $739,955 has been raised for all purposes in five years, with $181,907 obtained in 1950.

The multiple sclerosis clinic, the report says, provides a center where treatments may be evaluated and physiotherapy given. The research program covers allergy, myelin destruction, psychological factors, evaluation of ACTH, biochemical studies and the field of virus.

Administering U. M. T.

Successful System Believed to Depend on Continuous Civilian Observance

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEW YORK TIMES:

The arguments of the education and church groups who oppose U. M. T. seem to be based on the premise that its operation will be poorly done. Everything can be done wrong, even education and religious observance. To be fair, the educators must admit that recent scandals have shown that college athletics if poorly handled can be "fantastically expensive, educationally undesirable, morally hazardous." Nevertheless, physical fitness is an important objective of education.

The report of the National Security Training Commission does not give a clear breakdown of costs. A public understanding of those would be useful. The estimated cost of over $2,000,000,000 a year for six months training of 800,000 trainees means a per capita cost of $2,500 for each trainee. My guess would be that of this amount six months pay would be $180, subsistence at $1 per day about $180, transportation about $50, clothing about $200, housing, welfare and miscellaneous equipment about $370, to aggregate a personal expense per individual of about $1,000.

The general expenses include a force of instructors and administrators which the report estimates at nearly 200,000, of whom about 20,000 would be commissioned and 180,000 enlisted men or civilian employees. The salary, subsistence, heat, light and quarters of these might easily aggregate $800,000,000 or another $1,000 per trainee, leaving about $500 per trainee or $400,000,000 for the miscellaneous expenses of induction and administration. These figures are guesses, but they may be close enough to be helpful.

The extravagance, then, if any, lies in the number of instructors and administrators. These include the additional personnel needed in the supply, ordnance, subsistence, paymaster, selective service, etc., departments. Let us remember that they provide a permanent training organization ready to perform the first job immediately needed for war—namely, to expand the armed forces. That is an insurance cost that should not be too drastically cut.

Purpose of Program

U. M. T. is designed:

To create a training establishment easily expanded without training cadres taken from regular units.

To free regular forces for combat missions.

To furnish the National Guard and organized Reserves with a steady flow of basically trained personnel and reduce the interval required to achieve their combat readiness.

To provide a pool of unorganized reserves already selected for the services they should perform.

To reduce the risk of exposing unseasoned troops to combat.

To develop records of individual qualifications and avoid placing square pegs in round holes.

To increase public morale, good citizenship, physical fitness, initiative and leadership for civilian as well as military purposes.

To distribute fairly the universal obligation of free citizens for the defense of their community.

To accomplish these ends, U. M. T. must be wisely administered. Just as educational institutions in which the general body of the alumni continue their active support and interest by means of visiting committees, reunions and representation among the trustees avoid the mistakes that overtake those in which the power to direct policy is too much centralized, so also a successful system of U. M. T. will require continuous civilian observance by its graduates. If that is provided, the dangers foreseen by the educational and church groups should be avoided.
